Looking for work?
Consider
an employment agency!

YOU HAVE SIGNED YOUR
WELCOME & INTEGRATION
CONTRACT

YOU ARE LOOKING FOR WORK.

Find your nearest employment agency and introduce yourself to the team.

Don't forget to bring your CV and residence permit. After reviewing your profile, the agency could offer you:

- ▶ a temporary contract,
- ▶ a permanent agency contract ("CDI intérimaire"),
- ▶ a permanent contract ("CDI"),
- ▶ or a fixed-term contract ("CDD"),

depending on the skills required by its clients.

Permanent or fixed-term contracts with the client company

Your employer is the company that recruits you and where you will work.

Whether you are employed on a permanent or fixed-term contract, you will receive the same rights and benefits as employees of the company that hired you.

Agency contracts or permanent agency contracts

Your employer is the employment agency and not the company where you will work.

As an agency employee, you will benefit from certain rights:

Life insurance

You will be covered by a complementary scheme in addition to social security, covering insurance for health, disability and accidents at work, as well as maternity benefits.

Employee benefits*

You will have access to medical insurance, assistance with rental accommodation, reduced rates on moped and cycle hire, emergency babysitting services, an information and employee action services and more.

Professional training

You could be offered various training schemes.

Pension

You will contribute to a complementary non-management or management pension scheme and will acquire rights.

Depends on time spent in agency employment for certain benefits.*
